Woodfold Manufacturing is now the sole manufacturer for Hufcor designed acoustically rated Accordion Partitions.

The original Hufcor manufacturing line was transferred from Hufcor's Wisconsin plant to Woodfold's (Forest Grove, Oregon) late in 2021 and Woodfold has been manufacturing the 3100 and the 4100 series of Hufcor's Acoustical Accordion Partitions (doors) to customers' orders since January of 2022. The Partitions have sound transmission levels (STC) of 31 and 41 respectively.

The Hufcor Series 3100 and 4100 Accordion Partitions, by Woodfold, will continue to be marketed and sold through the current/existing Hufcor nationwide distributor network who work with customers, architects and contractors to ensure selection and final installation are in harmony with the aesthetics and ergonomics of any building.

Woodfold has been reaching out to the architectural and contracting community to advise them of the changes and also informing of the opportunity to continue to specify and install this contemporary system of space separation.

The Hufcor design is an accordion door utilizing a continuous hardwearing laminated cover along both sides to form a single continuous wall.

Some of the benefits of Hufcor Design Accordion Partitions by Woodfold are the fast setup and adjustment with no floor tracks to create tripping hazards or collecting debris.

Accordion partitions are a fast and economical way to divide space and with industry leading STC levels, they keep rooms separated in sight and sound at the same time.
